HAPPENINGS ON THE HILLTOP.

Anyway, the percentage of the High landers never can drop to .000 again.

The first play of the game brought young Martin into the limelight. The newcomer made a capital catch of Strunk's curving liner.

Daniels tried to sacrifice in the third and hit a puny foul fly. The ball struck McInnes on the chest and he caught if between his elbow and his body.

Thomas overlooked a bet in the fifth When Daniels singled to centre Thomas could have had Street at the plate if he hadn't been so intent on whipping the bail to first to try to nip Daniels.

There were three balls and no strikes on Ford in the seventh, but the next three were squarely over and he fanned.

The Giants were out in force, but the Phillies were further weakened by the ab-sence of Knabe, who is suffering from a severe cold. His place was taken by a recruit named Steinbrenner, just fresh from East Liberty Academy of Pittsburg.
He came here yesterday for a tryout, and as the Phillies are badly in need of players he was sent into the game. He handled himself very neatly in the field, and when he came to bat in the third, Matty treated him kindly. Bad Errors by Home Team and Bad Errors by Home Team and Rucker's Weak Pitching Costly.

Iron nerve and quick thinking enabled the Boston Wardmen to trim the Brooklyns by a score of 7 to 5 in a ten inning tussle at Washington Park yesterday. The Beaneaters refused to be rattled when things became interesting and backed uptheir crack pitcher. Hugh Perdue, in really brilliant fashion. In striking contrast was the ragged fielding of the Dahlens, particularly that of Tooley, who booted grounders and threw wildly just at the time when bingles meant runs. Rucker was ineffective and the visitors took surprising liberties with his easy curves. The Brooklyns also hammered Perdue viciously in spots, but he tightened up after the seventh inning and used terrific speed with scoreless results. A rank decision by Umpire Bush on Northen in the last inning probably killed a raily. Northen hit a grounder to McDonald, who in the last inning probably killed a raily.

Northen seemed to be lying on the bag when Devlin caught the ball, but was called out. Northen did not kick, however, inasmuch as Hummel had been ejected in the previous inning for finding fault with a third strike called by Klem. Right on top of the Bush verdict came base on top of the Bush verdict came a base on balls to Daly, who was forced by Downs. Chase's fielding record was unusual. Very rare for a first baseman to have six assists. The Highlander star, however, isn't hitting at all. He looks very frail at the bat. Ford now has three defeats and no vic-tories to his credit--or debit. His pitching yesterday, however, was good enough to win. with still another man added to the hos-pital list, gave the Giants a good run for the game to-day, but lost out by the score Behind Him White Sox Bat Heavily ter helped along one of the two runs secured by the Glants in the fourth. The Glants had a couple of wrangles with Umpire Rigler. In one of them Wil-son was fired from the bench because he had too much to say and Snodgrass made side arm spitball pitcher of the Cubs, and Slim Sallee, the Cardinal southpaw. Sallee blew in the eighth when Tinker got his third single. A hit by Hofman, a double by Evers and a hit by Lennox completed the rout and gave the Cubs their runs. Tinker's playing was a feature. The Cubshortstop got three hits and stole as many bases. Ellis scored both of the Cardinal runs in the third with a double, his first hit in 31 times at bat.

NOTES OF BROOKLYN GAME. The Brooklyns left for a trip last night that will keep them on the road until May 24, when they meet the Giants at Washing-ion Fark.
